

CONTENTS

SEPTEMBER 2011

IN THIS ISSUE

50.....Opinion

Why FDI is Good for Retail

FDI in Indian retail will reduce wastage across the farm-to-fork supply chain, improve India's position as a sourcing hub and generate jobs, argues NV Sivakumar.

56.....Marketing

Mobile Marketing: How Companies are Using Mobile Technology to Drive Sales

Shopping centers are fine-tuning their mobile marketing strategies. Duffy C. Weir, Poornima Apte and Bernadette Starzee highlight strategies tried and tested by retailers.

66.....Insight

Indian Retail: Have you got it right?

There are many perceptions about Indian retail floating around in the world. Vivek Nair explores a few key ones to see if they have any weight attached to them.

72.....Market Intelligence

2011 Outlook for Retail and Consumer Products – Part 2

The last issue of "IMAGES Retail" carried excerpts from a PwC report about the 2011 outlook for retail and consumer products in Asia. The concluding part covers online retailing, durable consumer goods and luxury brands.

86.....Online Marketing

Social Media: The New Force Multiplier

Indian retailers have begun to use social media to build their brands and engage with customers 24/7 at a fraction of the cost of print and electronic advertising, finds Payal Kapoor.

DESIGN

96.....Levi's, London

This re-crafted showroom is designed to demystify what makes one pair of Levi's distinct from another, while offering the customers a personalized way to buy jeanswear.

REGULARS

12.....International Updates

22.....National Updates

102.....New Store Openings

106.....Situations Vacant

Indian Department Store Chains

Missing the mark

COVER STORY 34

THE INDIAN DEPARTMENT STORE CHAINS HAVE A LONG WAY TO GO TO COME UP TO THE LEVEL OF INTERNATIONAL CHAINS. HERE IS WHAT THEY ARE DOING WRONG.

